Welcome

Celebrity designer and global company get behind the Workwear and Corporate Clothing Show 2009

Clothes Show Live founder Jeff Banks and INVISTA's CORDURA® brand are lending their support to the Workwear and Corporate Clothing Show, which will make a triumphant return to the Birmingham NEC on 1-2 April 2009.

The eminent designer will host the Business Manager Awards, which rewards the hard work of the industry's buyers, whilst INVISTA's world renowned CORDURA® brand, has signed up to sponsor the event. This is just the latest success story for the show, which is organised by Corporate Clothes Show LLP - it has already witnessed a 60% leap in exhibitor numbers with several months still to go!

BUILDING ON SUCCESS

The inaugural show took place in April 2008 and attracted over 2000 visitors and exhibitors. This surpassed all expectation for a new show with a new concept: to bring under one roof the entire buyer/seller spectrum from textile manufacturers to end-users. The result is that next year's exhibition looks set to exceed over one hundred stands as returning and new exhibitors continue to sign up to the show.

EXHIBITION

The response isn't that surprising considering that the Workwear and Corporate Clothing Show is the only show solely dedicated to senior buyers, suppliers, distributors and manufacturers for the workwear, corporate clothing and PPE industry. This means that visitors and exhibitors come from all over the world to exhibit and visit.

CONFERENCE

The 2009 Workwear and Corporate Clothing Show Conference will address one of the most important issues facing working garment manufacturers, suppliers, distributors and buyers today: SUSTAINABILITY. Taking place on 2nd April next to the exhibition hall, the conference will bring together ten inspiring speakers to present on the three key areas of sustainability: environment, social and economy.

Brought together from across the industry, their unique insights will shed light on how sustainability can be achieved through recycling, reuse, ethical sourcing and supply chain management - all whilst remaining profitable. Microsoft Gold Partner Syscom, which provides ERP software solutions for the industry, is sponsoring the event for the second year running.

FASHION CATWALK SHOW

Make sure that you secure a front row seat for our catwalk-dance extravaganza, sponsored by promotional and corporatewear supplier Russell Europe. The hugely entertaining fashion catwalk show - professionally choreographed by Debbie Astell – proved an immediate hit with exhibitors and visitors in 2008. Now, workwear, corporate clothing and PPE companies are
